Surely its only 'business use' if the ham is making money out of it!

If i send someone directions to their local HRO or something by means of packet, its not 'business use' because i receive no financial reward from it. Likewise distributing shareware. Now if I was the AUTHOR of the shareware..... (maybe this discussion thread should be mapped over to rec.ham-radio.legal ??)

Hello all,

Sorry for this unusual message, but someone has tried to send me a mail, which had a wrong header. Usually mail from 'strangers' is mail from readers of this bulletin, that's why I'm posting this here.

The mail came from: <cis.ohio-state.cis.ohio-state.edu>@cis.ohio-state.edu> which clearly has a syntax-error in it.

To the writer of this mail: try sending it to: adam@tnoal1.tno.nl
or: gaalen@tno.nl

You may have added something like @cunyvm.xxx.xx and I've seen one more case in which it failed. I'll confirm receipt as soon as it gets to me!
